He also illustrates how acceptance of diversity and diversity of thought will serve a globally integrated world economy in a positive and competitive way. It is a compelling message. Gary is comfortable in a private setting, a boardroom of 50 executives, or on-stage in front of thousands. Gary is a true professional, trusted keynote speaker, personal executive coach and feels honored to share his life with others.

Inspiration, motivation, team building, effective communication and strong leadership are just a few of the topics that will be discussed in these highly professional, energized presentations. This is a presentation experience that will always be remembered. Gary Guller summited Mt. Everest on May 23, 2003, becoming the only person with one arm to ever scale the world's highest peak after leading a group of people with disabilities to the base camp of Mt. Everest. Later the next year, Gary lead an expedition to the summit of the world's sixth highest mountain, Mt. Cho Oyu, located in Tibet - these accomplishments alone speaks of his integrity, perseverance and ability to motivate and inspire those around him to accomplish their dreams and to reach their full potential.

"Make Others Greater and Success is Guaranteed" (Gary's most sought after presentation).

Gary's images, stories and affable nature inspire others to look deep within to accomplish more in all areas of life. Gary speaks from his heart about what he has learned over the past 25+ years of adventures and life experiences; from the bottom of the world to the very top of the world, let it be known, Gary prefers the top. Gary has been part of countless executive leadership conferences with the world's finest and brightest executives, developed deep personal relationships with industry leaders and has earned his way as one of the most sought after, trusted to deliver, speakers in the world. Gary has inspired and continues to inspire others to achieve their maximum potential and to passionately pursue their dreams and goals.

Gary lost the use of his arm in a mountaineering accident just as he had found his life's passion: alpine climbing. He stunned a medical team at Duke University by asking to have his paralyzed arm amputated. After serious introspection, Gary began climbing again, surmounting the barriers that stood in the way of realizing his dreams to explore. He has inspired others ever since to continue onward and upward.

His down-to-earth speaking style reaches into the souls of his audience as he tells how his experiences have shaped his philosophy of "Anything is Possible". He encourages others to look deep into themselves, motivating them to set goals to maximize their potential, placing fear and doubts aside and pushing through the barriers to succeed in business and in life. Decisive action, collaboration, and passion for your company's future will lead to better opportunity, better understanding of others and ultimately, a better, safer world.
